TRADING NARROW IN CORN MARKET

Professional Dealing Features Session in Which Tone Is Easier.

JULY LIQUIDATION HEAVY

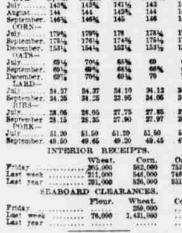

Several Rallies Take Place in Day in Spite of General Selling Tendency.

The corn market yesterday was pro sectional and trading was narrow. With professionals dominating the tone was ager. Outside buying was small, and bence there was little or no support during the day except when the shorts covered on crop news or the rise in live stock. While there were railies the tendency was to sell during the greater part of the day. Liquidation was heavy in the July delivery, as speculative accounts must be evened up before the first of that month. Sentiment was bearish broughout, and was in some measure etributable to the belief that prices sould fall following Thursday. While the options did decline in prices. there was no break, because of the strenght in provisions and the scarcity of offerings. In some quarters the feel-ing exists that the unsettled German situation means a delay in demand for foodstuffs from the Central Empires. the announcement that the Government would sell large quantities of lard and four in Baltimore encouraged the bears. the most part favorable. The cash de-mand continues soft, being 1 to 2 cents lower. Receipts were larger than ex-pected, but not sufficient to cause any great decrease in the visible supply. While the Argentine shipments were announced as liberal, only small quanti-ties were destined for the United States. Prices opened easier but railled on buy-ing when it was reported that hogs were stronger and the contract stocks of corn The bearish sentiment, however, ruled, and the options sagged off. The market continued that way until after midday, when it weakened under heavy cage would be less than that of sas acreage would be less than that of last year caused some covering by the shorts, which was only temporary, as pressure from the commission houses caused a selling movement which continued until just before the close, when there was a slight movement upward. It is believed quite strongly that when the official estimate of the acrease when the good prospect of a satisfactory crop will ripen before the average frost ecattered crop complaints have mentioned, nothing serious has bee orted. Commission houses bought on he declines. There was little or no talk of export demand yesterday. Provisions were irregular, the advance in hogs and light offerings being responsible for the rains. Lard sold off later on the anuncement of the Government sale. F. again carried all active deliveries to new L. organization here, to cooperate with highs for the present contract style. There was nothing, however, weak about to bring about a still shorter workday. to bring about a still shorter workday than that agreed to by both sides when the National War Labor Board fixed forty-eight hours as the work week, following the strike which was settled by arbitration in February. The decision of the War Board was of the crop as of June 19 at 63.9 per cent, with an indicated decrease in acreage for the 1919-1920 season of 12.5 per cent. The report implied that, with normal weather conditions, the yield for the present season would be 11,200,000 bales excluding linters.

A. Norden's report was somewhat less unfavorable, making the condition 71.6 per cent. The general opinion among the trade is that the Government figures to be announced next Tuesday will show

COFFEE MARKET.

The coffee market yesterday wa a see-saw affair with a wide of fluctuations and sentiment mixed and very nervous. On the call prices were 35 to 45 points less than at the previous closs. Later in the ses-sion prices advanced sharply on demand attributed to European and Brazilian interests and buying orders from a large local trade interest, which until yesterday had been a free seller. The bulge carried July to $23, September to $22.90.
December to $22.40 and March to $22.35.
or 20 to $5 points more than the initial figures. An easier undertone developed late in the day and considerable earlier gains were lost. Final prices were 5 points net higher for July and for other march at $5.50 points are higher for July and for other march. months 15 to 35 points net lower. Dur-ing the day two or three ouilish cables were reported from Santos, but the unsettled and nervous condition of the market generally tended to check par-ticular action on those advices except values advanced a few points.

Official cables reported no change in the Rio spot market, Santos unquoted and the term market 1$275 to 2$072 rets lower. Receipts at the two ports TENNIS. were 20,000 bags against 37,000 a year ago. There were reported arrivals of 16,333 bags and deliveres of 15,665 bags.

By a new ruling of the managers of the New York Coffee and Sugar Ex-change, on and after July 7 the max-imum coffee price fluctuation up or down must be 200 points a day. That max-
